Structural Pest Inspections

Paratex has a long history and considerable experience performing structural pest inspections. Several of our employees are qualified structural pest inspectors and we maintain licenses and insurance requirements with the Washington State Department of Agriculture.

At present we limit the performance of structural inspections to a few existing customers and large commercial complexes. We can help with the treatment of structural pests and crawl space corrections.

Many home inspectors include a structural pest inspection within their overall home inspection. Structural pest inspectors also can be found easily on the internet with a Google search.
